1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 21-54 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-20 of U.S. Patent No. 6,619,395.

The mapping of respective claims is evident from their near identical presentation in order and language. For example: Independent claim 21 corresponds with patented claim 1. Independent claims 29 corresponds with patented claim 11. These and remaining independent claims are broader than the patent independent claims. The dependent claims from respective conflicting independent claims are directed to similar subject matter in language or scope as the patented dependent claims.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to delete or broaden claimed features from patented claims without involving the concept of invention, as well as to use other synonyms and closely related terminology variations for similar disclosure based concepts which terms and phrases may or may not be intended to be different in breadth and coverage. No matter whether different claim coverage is intended, the fact remains applicants could have presented for consideration and prosecution such claim variations within and during prosecution of the parent application.

Since the claims are drawn to broader subject matter and/or well known obvious variants in only artistic claim language than those claims already granted to an issued patent it would have been an obvious design choice to merely delete or alter (broaden) elements from the patented combination of elements/steps, or to use well known equivalent alternatives or add other obvious limitations to claims that do not involve the concept of invention.

3. References cited of record are found to be of background interest only and fail to teach the entire combination together in a single reference or the motivation to combine separate references for the invention as a whole as found in independent claims.
